Location: Nationwide
Construction Type: Remodel
Size: Various

CHALLENGES:

Murphy Oil was seeking a way to add brick to 1100 of their existing metal-based buildings across the United States in a way that was economical and strategically feasible over four years. On top of this, they desired a solution that would keep them from needing to have a separate contracting group, beyond the painting contractors, to install a typical masonry product. This vendor would have to coordinate with four different contractors to keep on schedule and get them the material as their crews traveled through each region.

SOLUTIONS:

Replications Unlimited offered a unique solution to their problem. Since you can cut URESTONE Panels easily using a standard saw, the system was simple enough for the existing paint contractors to install alongside other upgrades to the individual locations. Not only were URESTONE Panels sourced and supplied at Replications Unlimited, but so were all the metal trim and other installation supplies, allowing for the completion of approximately 300 stores per year.

PRODUCTS:

CLEAN BRICK • METAL TRIM
